Open Championship to Be Held at Gar-Against Paying Expenses of Oxford and Cambridge Team - Officers Elected

Last night's meeting of the United States Golf Association was the occasion of some hot and fervid talk, but the acts of the dele-gates after they had let off steam were only such as to demonstrate mutual good will and good feeling. It was the eighth annual meeting, including the first general one of 1895, but the ninth time there has been a general assemblage, 'as a special meeting was held in consequence of the death of T. A. Havemeyer, the first President.

There were only twenty-five clubs entitled to vote, as at the meeting of the Executive Committee in the afternoon the Meadow Brook Club was dropped from associate to allied membership. At the same meeting the Detroit, Mich., Golf Club and the Wilmington, Del., Country Club were elected allied members. This made the allied clubs in membership number 174. Thirty-three clubs joined the association during the year.

Golf.

Treasurer Heebner had reported $8,202 on hand and all bills paid and Secretary Kerr had presented his final report, and received a standing vote of thanks, before this ticket had been elected. The President Robertson, after a semijocular greeting on taking up his second term, outlined the suggestions of the old Executive Committee to the incoming one and asked that the delegates vote that the suggestions be considered and acted on at a special meeting. The suggestions were regarding changes in both the constitution and bylaws.

One change was that hereafter all clubs should have equal representation on payment of the same dues; another that sixty-four should qualify for the amateur champion-ship at medal play, to keep on at 18-hole match play rounds until the final, which would be at 38-holes. On vote of Mr. Parrish the incoming Executive Committee was authorized to speedily call a special congress of the association to act on all the suggestions.

The inference was that those who wished to entertain the team would "chip in" for the expenses. The motion was voted to be laid on the table, and as Mr. Lynch, who had led the opposition to the motion, said, there was "nothing doing."

Mr. Robertson announced that a team of Oxford and Cambridge golfers was very

Mr. Robertson announced that a team of Oxford and Cambridge golfers was very keen to come here for a three-weeks' tour this summer, if some means could be devised to get for the players their expenses from the U.S. G. A. The sentiment of the from the U. S. G. A. The sentiment of the delegates was that this could not be done, although some thought it would be all right to pay the team's expenses by individual subscriptions. Mr. Windeler moved that the ten players be invited to come over, with the express understanding that the U. S. G. A. funds should not be used for their expenses.

With the express understanding the capenses.

The choice of links for the amateur championship then came up. Before the discussion began Mr. Robertson said that the Executive Committee had given great attention to the matter and for the future of the game they thought that this year it should go to the West. This was an unparalleled action on the part of any Executive Committee and a body blow to the hopes of the sunporters of an Eastern links.

The claims of Nassau were then presented by Mr. Murdock and seconded by Mr. Hayden, Mr. Douglas and Mr. Travis, the trio representing three different clubs and including the present and former amateur champion. The feelings of the players, too, were well expressed by Mr. McSweeny of the Oil City Golf Club, who represented four of the seven Western entrants who had qualified last year. For Glenview a stirring speech was made by Mr. Bokum, who had as backers, Messrs. Forgan, Martin, Edge and Parrish. by 3 Games to 1. CHICAGO, Feb. 27.-George Standing, the New York Racquet Club professional, de-feated Harry Boakes of the Chicago A. A. by three games to one in a recent racquet match at the Chicago Athletic Association courts to-day. The game was witnessed by a large crowd and the playing was fast and clever.

The conditions called for the best three out of live games, a series of two matches having been arranged, the second being scheduled for next Saturday afternoon. Standing played more consistently than his opponent and his agility and cleverness in reaching the ball gained much applause.

The first game was won by the New Yorker by 15 to 9. Boakes seeming unable to start until Standing had the game well in hand. The second game, the only one captured by Boakes, looked very easy for Standing, but Boakes, by clever and fast work, won by 15—12. CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP.

MORE LIGHT UPON THE ATTI-TUDE OF C. H. EBBETS.

Some Time Age-New Yorks' Make-Up-Bids for the Jeffries-Fitzsim-mons and McGovern-Corbett Fights.

The press representative of the Brooklyn Baseball Club's President threw a new ray Baseball Club's President threw a new ray of light upon the true inwardness of the alleged loyalty to A. G. Spalding yesterday with a long statement to the effect that there are only two legitimate results of the present fight in the National Lengue. One is the getting together of the original eight clubs under a standard of peace or the refusal of the Freedman faction to join with the Spald-ingites, whereupon the latter would proceed to maintain the League on the platform pre-pared by Spalding. Incidentally the fact is emphasized in no uncertain manner that it would be impossible to expel the New York club in view of the constitution of the League: a new organization, and also that it would be folly to play out the coming season on a four-club basis. Furthermore, it is pointed out that the creditors of the League would promptly stop any radical moves with an injunction. As a wind-up the assertion is made that the "burying of the hatchet seems simple, provided, of course, neither side asks too much." In other words, President Ebbets, in spite of his warlike utterances, has been secretly working against Spalding for some time. There is proof, which can be furnished at the proper time, to show that six weeks ago Ebbets made the statement that Spalding could not get Freedman out of baseball; that Spalding was practically bluffing, and that the Brooklyn club wanted about $30,000 from the League as payment for the elimination of the Baltimore club from the circuit before he would consent to break away from the Freedman faction forever. Ebbets also made the remark that a four-club league was an absurdity, and that the Brooklyn club would not take part in any such movement. He also denounced the American League and declared vehemently that the Brooklyn club would never have anything to do with the men who had taken the star players away from the National League. It may not be a breach of faith to say that six weeks ago Spalding gave orders to his lieutenants to keep all moves secret and under no circumstances to allow Ebbets to get hold of any finside facts.

It was semi-officially announced yesterday that the New York team for the coming season is complete. This is the intended makeup as outlined by Manager Horace Fogel: Catchers, Bowerman, Yeager and Thurston: pitchers, Mathewson, Taylor, Kennedy, McGee, Evans, Burke, Thielman, Washburn and Dupee: first base, Doyle (Captain); second base, Smith; third base, Delehanty; short stop, Anderson; outfielders, VanHaltren, Jackson, Jones, Clark and Stafford. It is asserted with renewed confidence that the team will win the pennant, even though New Yorkers have not seen a championship banner since 1889, except those won by Hanlon's men over in Brooklyn.

banner since 1889, except those won by Hanlon's men over in Brooklyn.

Various clubs are figuring on securing the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons and the McGovern-Corbett fights. Though it is generally understood that Jeffries and Fitz will fight before the Yosemite A. C. of San Francisce, a number of prominent sporting men of Los Angeles have decided to offer a guaranteed purse of $15,000 and a percentage of the gross gate. One of these promoters says that as Los Angeles is the home of Jeffries, the offer may receive some consideration and that if it is accepted, the fight will be decided in the open air. Bids for the McGovern-Corbett mill will be received until March 15. Tim Hurst, representing the Southern A. C. of Louisville, where McGovern and Sullivan met, has already made a bid. So has a club in Covington, Ky., while Joseph Vendig, the well-known bookmaker, declares that he will soon make an offer for the mill to be decided in the East. The Yosemite A. C. of Frisco will also make a play, while Jack Herman's club at Fort Erie will be heard from, too. Young Corbett, by the way, made these remarks when he learned that another match with Terry had been clinched:

"I'm tickled to death. There is no one I would sooner fight than McGovern. He is just the kind of a fighter that suits me. I will take care to be just as fit as I was at Hartford and I hope he will be at his best, too, so that there may be no doubt about the result. I'll win to a dead moral certainty."

Four more American jockeys have sailed for Europe. They are Johnny Reiff, "Cash" Sloan, Nate Hill and Eddie Gray. Reiff will ride in France this year, where his handling of Kilmarnock II. last season made such a sensation. He has taken on weight this winter and may not be able to do less than 100 pounds. Gray goes to Austria, while Sloan and Hill are bound for Russia. All of them have signed lucrative contracts.

1/2 Price Clearance Sale of Men's Scarfs. A Business Proposition for Any Man. The Reductions Have Not Been Equaled.

An important event brought about by a change in the management of our Men's Furnishing Store, and that a speedy clearance may be made to give room for the proper showing of selections for Easter and Spring now crowding upon us.

We make the following sweeping reductions, and as for real value, it's the best offer our Men's Furnishing Store has made. There's not a man who won't recognize that, the moment he sees the Scarfs. Here they are in brief:

1,000 Scarfs; Regularly 50c., at 29c. These are mostly double and Imperials, though there are a few four-in-hands, and are dark figured satins.

Imperial and four-in-hands, light and dark, all black and all white, self figured and plain.

Furniture Sale Closes To-night. Entire Stock at 25% to 50% Reductions. A February Sale Without an Equal.

Furniture of sterling quality—the Loeser kind—was never so cheap as during this February sale. The sweeping reductions which apply to every piece in our great assortment will be withdrawn Friday evening. Even though the selling has lasted a month the stock is still in matchless shape-large quantities of new furniture having arrived this week, and even those who were here a week ago will now find something more of interest to them.

The Loeser furniture bears out in every particular the highest skill of furniture making—both in design and quality of the work. It makes the old saying "they don't make furniture like our forefathers did" of no avail, for in the essentials the furniture is really far better. It is more comfortable, it is prettier, it is more useful. It meets every given purpose. Such furniture, from the simplest chair or closet to the most elaborate gold parlor suit, is here until to-night at reductions of 25% to 50% from the best regular prices of to-day. If you need any kind of furniture at all delay means a loss, for the prices will be higher to-morrow.

Carpet Sale Closes Saturday Night.

To-day and to-morrow are the last two days of this notable Carpet Sale. The mills have played into our hands during the dull months—we have gathered and selected and culled until we have an assortment of Carpets with no equal at any previous sale.

Finally at the end of ten minutes Luttbeg took a rest and then tackled Jim Kelly, a heavyweight. Kelly was clever and a spirited tilt ensued. Luttbeg used all his skill, but Kelly was as immovable as a stone wall. At the end of the time limit he was still up and doing. Jones is slated to meet Luttbeg again to-morrow night.
